

Lorenzo Bartolini 'The Campbell Sisters'

The Victoria and Albert and National Galleries of Scotland jointly acquired Lorenzo Bartolini's marble sculpture - The Campbell Sisters Dancing a Waltz. This exceptional work, made in Florence around 1821, had previously been subject to an export bar. The acquisition ensures that the piece will remain in the UK on public display.

Image

Lorenzo Bartolini's marble sculpture The Campbell Sisters Dancing a Waltz

Nation/region

Scotland

Grant awarded

£275,000

Award date

19/05/2015

Related News

Exceptional Lorenzo Bartolini sculpture saved for the nation

The Victoria and Albert Museum (V&A) and National Galleries of Scotland (NGS) behind joint acquisition of Lorenzo Bartolini's marble sculpture The Campbell Sisters Dancing a Waltz, made in Florence in about 1821