

Canterbury Astrolabe Quadrant

The British Museum (BM) acquired a unique 14th century brass astrolabe quadrant. The museum had previously attempted to acquire the item at auction, app no MF-06-01659, but were outbid. The astrolabe has now been export stopped by RCEWA.

Image

The Canterbury Astrolabe Quadrant

Nation/region

London

Grant awarded

£125,000

Award date

20/05/2008

Related News

British Museum second time lucky in securing astrolabe quadrant

The British Museum attempted to purchase the quadrant in 2007 but was outbid at auction. This extremely rare and important object was subsequently export-stopped, and thanks to the generous assistance of the National Heritage Memorial Fund (NHMF), The Art Fund, the UK's leading independent art charity, and British Museum Friends, it has been acquired by the Museum and will be shown to the public for the first time.